SiselRIPT™

Enhanced Muscle Protein Synthesis Support

Amplify Your Routine

More for Your Muscle

The Mystery of Muscle Protein Synthesis

Our muscles rebuild and regrow through a process called muscle protein synthesis. Amino acids are the building blocks for this process, and most are produced by our body as it needs them. However, Essential Amino Acids (EAA) cannot be produced and must be included to supplement our diet in order for our bodies to use them to build protein.

Created with long-term muscle health in mind, SiselRIPT is designed to support optimal muscle protein synthesis. With more than $20 million in research and 24 human trials, this unique, patented formula is clinically proven to provide superior muscular growth, repair, and conditioning.

The Science Behind SiselRIPT™

The Perfect Ratio

Based on multi-million dollar studies, SiselRIPT is able to provide the most efficient ratio of EAAs needed for muscle protein synthesis. One 3.6g serving offers more support for muscle growth than larger doses of many other muscle building products, offering unparalleled muscle support, even while you're resting.

Branched-Chain Amino Acids (BCAAs) are one of the most important factors in muscle development. They increase the rate of protein synthesis while reducing the rate of protein degradation when you're in a resting state. Essentially, they improve muscle growth when working out and limit how quickly your muscles break down when you're not.

To unlock the power of these amino acids, renowned scientist, Dr. Robert Wolfe, spent millions of dollars and decades of his life researching The Perfect Ratio. After several successful human trials, he and his team finally cracked the synthesis code. His groundbreaking discovery led to the creation of SiselRIPT: our patented, clinically proven formula for maximum muscle health.

Our powerful formula combines three effective amino acids, Leucine, Isoleucine, and Valine, which are crucial for muscle maintenance, growth, and repair. To help increase natural energy and endurance, we combined them with Maltodextrin and Malic Acid, and completed the result with a natural zero-calorie sweetener called Stevia.
