Depleted Environment + Stressful Lifestyles = Trouble

Today's lifestyle demands a never-ending parade of work, unhealthy diets and sleepless nights. Nutritionally depleted soil and thousands of man-made chemicals have found their way into our environment and food, so that even when we think we're eating well, we may not be getting the nutrition we need to protect and sustain our bodies. What we eat today may have decreased in valuable nutrients compared to what past generations enjoyed. As the nutritional value of the foods decreases, the environmental threats to our health potentially increase. We may all use additional nutrition to remain healthy.

The Dangers & Damages of Free Radicals

There now exists numerous groups of free radicals in the world that can potentially assault our bodies every day. These rogue molecules can cause cellular decay, corroding our bodies like rust on steel does. They can accelerate aging and threaten our health by creating oxidative stress.⁽³⁾ This dangerous imbalance between what keeps us healthy and what threatens our health has driven Sisel® to create a powerful and effective way to fight back.

Our unique formula contains up to 74 Essential Trace Minerals, vital for numerous essential biological functions, along with a proprietary Fruit & Vegetable Blend containing approximately 40 intensely powerful ingredients, rich with antioxidant properties, all made more readily absorbable to your systems by combining it with Organic Fulvic Acid.*

SpectraMaxx® Provides Powerful Immunological Support!*

Different foods have separate, unique molecules, which may counteract specific free radicals. This means no single super fruit or vegetable may possibly address all the harmful free radicals present in our environment. We designed SpectraMaxx with this in mind. Our potent supplement fortified with over 40 concentrated ingredients create an amazingly broad spectrum of nutrients. Additionally, SpectraMaxx also contains organic fulvic acid, which may support the body's various biological functions. Our incredible product has been formulated to give a wide array of essential trace minerals, antioxidants, energy-boosting support for vitamins and phytonutrient complexes, all in less than one ounce.^{(5)*}
